MORE DETAILS

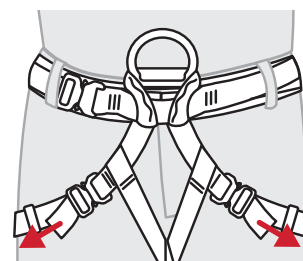

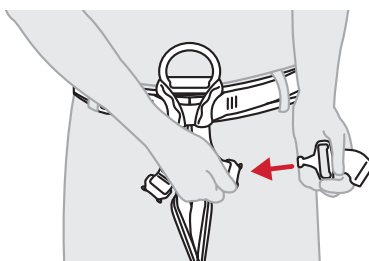

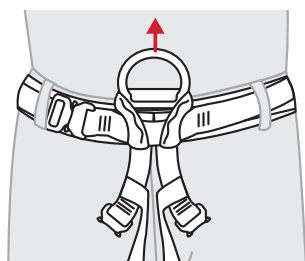

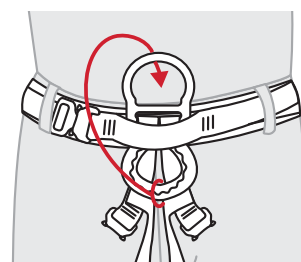

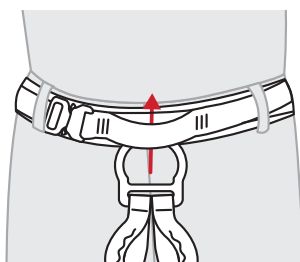

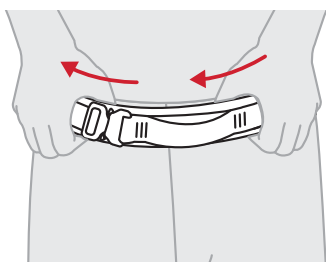

The Outback Convertible Harness is a lightweight modular system for fast-moving technical teams in remote areas.

Certified to EN standards and tested to ASTM standards, the Outback meets the strength requirements for a versatile mountaineering harness capable of rescue, rope access, climbing, and tactical or military operations. Its patented integration lets users configure the harness for the task at hand and share components interchangeably in the field. Every team member wears the belt, edge personnel add leg loops, and vertical technicians get the full ensemble.

The Outback Harness goes the distance and gets the job done. It's globally certified, highly configurable, and fully-featured for challenging mountain operations.

COMPONENTS

Waist Belt

Waist Belt +
Leg Loops

Sit Harness

- Waist Belt fits most belt loops and is easily donned with its quick-connect Cobra Buckle
- Leg attachment system solidly connects leg loops without opening the waist belt
- Leg loops are closed by quick-connect Cobra Buckles, no need to remove skis or crampons
- D-Ring is more durable than fabric and fits multiple connections without cross loading

Chest Harness

- Rapidly integrated without opening the sit harness or other components
- Provides additional comfort, security, and features including a sternal attachment
- Universally sized and adjusts to fit each team member using 3 Cobra Frame Buckles

Chest Ascender Kit

- Installs a lightweight mini-ascender for vertical mobility and hands-free positioning
- Allows technicians to move on the rope without relying on a large team
- Certified to CE EN 567 and CE EN 12841/B

Carry Pouch

- Compact, water resistant, and built to carry the harness and personal gear
- Attaches to the Outback Waist Belt, packs, structures and Molle strips
- Zippered front pocket and gear loops provide easy access to equipment

Gear Loop

- Quickly attaches to the Waist Belt in desired location while it's being worn
- Redundant design connects both buckles in a closed loop that also doubles as a gear sling
- Allows gear to be pre-racked and attached all-at-once to the harness
